DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 2/11/08 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-14, 16-29, 31-42, 44-68 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Gauselmann (US Patent Publication 2003/0216174).

Claims 1, 32, 45, 56 & 64: Gauselmann discloses of a game play via a gaming apparatus, wherein the gaming apparatus comprises of a value input device to receive a value input from the player (figure 1, elements 22, 24), and causing the first display unit to display a first game (0021, 0020). Gauselmann also discloses of selecting one of plurality of player input displays, wherein the display corresponds to the game related to the first game display (figures 2, 0015, 0020), and the second display to display the selected player inputs (figures 1 & 2), wherein the player input data is received through touch screen for the game (0020, 0026). Gauselmann also teaches of selecting another of player input displays (figure 2), and causing the second display unit to display the selected other of the plurality of player input displays (0026, 0029, 0041), and receive player input data associated with the selected other of the plurality of player input displays via touch screen (0041, 0044). Gauselmann also determines the outcome of the game and awards the player accordingly (0046).

Claims 2, 3, 18, 19, 33, 46 & 47: Gauselmann discloses that the second display unit displays at least one button (0026, 0041 & 0042).

Claims 4-9, 20-23, 34-37, 48 & 49: Gauselmann discloses of causing the second display unit to display a background (0015, wherein the background could be an image, a graphic or a video).

Claims 10, 24, 38, 57 & 65: Gauselmann discloses the second display unit to display second game display (0021, 0026 0015, wherein the selected one of the plurality of player input displays comprises the second game display).

Claim 11, 12, 26, 27, 39 & 40: Gauselmann discloses of the first display unit to display a bonus game, or an event, while causing the second display unit to display the second game display (0015, 0026, 0041-0042).

Claim 13 & 28: Gauselmann discloses of selecting the one of the plurality of player input displays based on player input (0020).

Claims 14, 29 & 42: Gauselmann discloses of display unit for displaying a user interface for player tracking information (0018).

Claims 16, 31, 41, 44, 50, 51, 58 & 66: Gauselmann discloses of receiving player input data via one button separate from the second display unit (figure 1, element 42, 0026).

Claims 17 & 25: Gauselmann discloses of a game play via a gaming apparatus, wherein the gaming apparatus comprises of a value input device to receive a value input from the player (figure 1, elements 22, 24), and causing the first display unit to display a first game (0021, 0020). Gauselmann also discloses of selecting one of plurality of player input displays, wherein the display corresponds to the game related to the first game display (figures 2, 0015, 0020), and the second display to display the selected player inputs (figures 1 & 2), wherein the player input data is received through touch screen for the game (0020, 0026). Gauselmann also teaches of selecting another of player input displays (figure 2), and causing the second display unit to display the selected other of the plurality of player input displays (0026, 0029, 0041), and receive player input data associated with the selected other of the plurality of player input displays via touch screen (0041, 0044). Gauselmann also determines the outcome of the game and awards the player accordingly (0046). Gauselmann also discloses the configurable control panel unit comprising plurality of lights beneath the panel to illuminate/de-illuminate the panel (0035-0037)

Claims 52-55, 59-63, 67 & 68: Gauselmann discloses of plurality of lights beneath the buttons to cause button on the panel corresponding to the selected one to be illuminated and de-illuminate the buttons accordingly (0035-0037, 0041)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 15, 30 & 43 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gauselmann as applied to claims 1-14, 16-29, 31-42, 44-68 above, and further in view of Rothschild et al. (US Patent Publication 2005/0054438).

Claims 15, 30 & 43: Gauselmann teaches the invention substantially as claimed, including the plurality of player input displays comprising user interfaces unrelated to the game play (0015, discloses information which are informative for the player but are not related to the game play), however fails to teach of an interface for ordering a drink, a food item, a ticket to a show, or any other services provided by the casino.

Rothschild et al. teaches of displaying player tracking information as well as information related to player ordering drinks, food, ticket to a show etc (figure 1). It would have been obvious to one with ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have implemented ability to order drinks and other items, thus providing an excellent service to the player and thus increasing player loyalty because the player is encouraged to frequently visit the casino to earn more points on the players card and thus obtain more rewards (0005).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-68 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Examiner's Note

Examiner has cited particular columns and line numbers in the references as applied to the claims above for the convenience of the applicant. Although the specified citations are representative of the teachings in the art and are applied to the specific limitations within the individual claim, other passages and figures may apply as well. It is respectfully requested from the applicant, in preparing the responses, to fully consider the references in entirety as potentially teaching all or part of the claimed invention, as well as the context of the passage as taught by the prior art or disclosed by the examiner.

Conclusion

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to SUNIT PANDYA whose telephone number is (571)272-2823. The examiner can normally be reached on 8 am - 5:30 pm.
